U.S. Public Health Service Commissioned Corps

-Dietitian Officers-
Best Kept Secrets

Who are we?
The U.S. Public Health Service Commissioned Corps is an elite team of more than 6,500 full-time, well-trained, highly qualified public health professionals dedicated to delivering the Nation’s public health promotion and disease prevention programs and advancing public health science. Driven by a passion for public service, these men and women serve on the front lines in the Nation’s fight against disease and poor health conditions. As one of America’s seven uniformed services, the Commissioned Corps fills essential public health leadership and service roles within the Nation’s Federal Government agencies and programs.

What do Dietitian officers do?
Dietitian Officers in U.S. Public Health Service:

- Provide medical nutrition therapy as part of a team providing state-of-the-art health care.
- Plan and implement educational programs for patients, hospital staff, specialty clinics, community health centers, and through Federal agency outreach and public affairs teams.
- Develop and evaluate national health and nutrition programs and National dietary guidelines.
- Coordinate nutrition programs and establish standards for nutrition service in settings such as Federal and tribal health care facilities.
- Ensure the safety of our Nation’s food and food products through research, testing, and inspection of food production facilities.

Our focus is on improving physical health for domestic and international populations and providing direct patient care. As a Commissioned Corps Officer, you have the chance to become involved in organized disease prevention and health promotion programs that have a positive impact on National and community disease rates as well as individual patients’ lives.

Did you know you can:

- Enjoy fantastic medical and dental benefits for you and your family
- Use military bases around the world
- Use the GI Bill to advance your education
- Contribute pre-tax income to the Thrift Savings Plan

Quality of Practice
Dietitian Officers in the U.S. Public Health Service Commissioned Corps are respected members of the health care team who play a key role in the provision of evidence-based care. They use their skills and expertise in medical nutrition therapy, research, food safety, epidemiology, wellness, health promotion, nutrition education, and emergency management while developing and strengthening their leadership skills through training and deployments to areas in need of public health crisis response. As a Registered Dietitian in the U.S. Public Health Service Commissioned Corps, you have the opportunity to control the course of your career. Dietitian Officers work in a wide variety of settings and for different agencies served by the U.S. Public Health Service.

Opportunities for Growth
Imagine working for an organization that wants you to grow professionally, to expand your knowledge base as part of your duties, so that you can effectively deal with the challenges of improving the Nation’s public health.

As a member of one of the seven branches of the Uniformed Services with Registered Dietitians serving Nationwide, you are involved in patient care, medical research, health promotion, health care policy, epidemiology, emergency management, and much more. You have opportunities to make an impact on the public health of this entire Nation with only one credential as a Registered Dietitian.

Quality of Life
Is your quality of life all that it could be? Is it important to you to have time to spend with your family and friends, doing the things you enjoy? As a Commissioned Officer in the U.S. Public Health Service, you receive 30 days of annual leave plus 10 Federal holidays. Many duty stations operate Monday–Friday during normal business hours. This organization allows you to pursue life in literally hundreds of locations from the largest cities to the smallest communities near the oceans, the mountains, the Grand Canyon, the Gulf Coast, or National parks. Be prepared to enjoy a camaraderie and sense of common purpose unlike anything you have yet experienced.

U.S. Public Health Service Commissioned Corps Benefits

Commissioned Corps officers working for the U.S. Public Health Service enjoy the same benefits as their counterparts in the armed services. Here are a few of them:

- No cost, comprehensive medical and dental care for Corps officers; excellent health benefits for families.
- Paid sick leave, maternity leave, and Federal holidays.
- Clinical practice liability coverage.
- Thirty days of paid vacation per year beginning the first year.
- Tax-free housing and meal allowances.
- Thrift Savings plan (retirement savings and investment plan similar to a 401(k)).
- Retirement plan with full benefits eligibility beginning after 20 years of service.
- Loan repayment potential – USPHS understands the financial burden of medical education. Assignments with certain Federal Agencies, such as the Indian Health Service, offer loan repayment and/or other educational and family support programs.
- Veterans Affairs benefits, such as Post-9/11 GI Bill & VA Home Loan Program. Education benefits do require a minimum service obligation and they may be transferrable to family members. Visit the Veterans Affairs Web Site for more information.

Additional Uniformed Services Benefits

The Commissioned Corps offers you and your family many other exceptional benefits including:

- Paid moving expenses when you join the Corps, relocate with the Corps, and retire from the Corps.
- Access to military base lodging, recreational facilities and space-available flights on military aircraft.
- Shopping privileges at military base grocery and department stores.
USPHS Officer Qualifications

All Commissioned Corps officers must meet several basic qualifications. To be a Dietitian officer, you must have a current, unrestricted, and valid registration by the Commission on Dietetic Registration. Additionally, education requirements include at least one of the following:

- Bachelor's degree
- Master's degree (with no qualifying bachelor's degree)
- Doctoral degree (with no qualifying bachelor's degree) from a regionally accredited college or university in the United States with a major in foods and nutrition, dietetics, institution management, public health nutrition, food science, sports nutrition, or animal nutrition.

Applicants also must present verification of completion of one of the following AND accredited/approved pathways:

- Accredited Dietetic Internship Program
- Accredited Coordinated Program

If you have just graduated and have not yet passed the Registered Dietitian exam, you may still apply to the U.S. Public Health Service. Your call to active duty will occur after you have provided documentation of a current, unrestricted, and valid registration by the Commission on Dietetic Registration.

Compensation for Dietitian Officers

Compensation varies depending on grade/rank which is determined by number of years of academic coursework and work experience (training and education) in your qualifying area. Other factors that determine compensation include location of duty station, specialty certifications, and marital status and/or having children.

The minimum pay grade/rank for a Dietitian Officer in the USPHS is O-1 or Ensign (COSTEPs only). Most Dietitian Officers are commissioned at the grade/rank O-2 or Lieutenant Junior Grade or an O-3 or Lieutenant.

The chart below provides an example of salary based on rank, duty location, years of service, and no dependence. For a more accurate calculation based on the variables please visit http://militarypay.defense.gov/Calculators/RMC-Calculator/.
