Junior officers should get involved in the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States (AMSUS) because it is a non-profit educational and professional development association serving the Department of Defense, Veterans Affairs, Health and Human Services, and Homeland Security, federal health professionals and their families. They partner and advocate for advancing health for all- particularly through interagency collaboration. Attending the annual AMSUS meeting allows PHS to integrate more with our sister services while also sharing our contribution to advancing healthcare.
